Tai Chi is meditation in motion. Come and learn a series of slow, continuous movements that will promote physical and mental well-being, and improve coordination and balance.

The elementary level of Tai Chi teaches you the correct stances and movements that cultivate the flow of chi (energy) in your body. Most students practise at elementary level for a year or more. The focus is on developing the rounded and relaxed movements (steps) of Tai Chi with the correct posture. Once students can perform their steps accurately and with second-nature, the focus shifts to feeling chi in the body.

In the second level of Tai Chi, the focus of learning is to develop an awareness of the balance between internal and external chi. Students may study at this level for several years before progressing. As demand develops, we will offer higher levels of Tai Chi. Please enquire.
